

Annotated Award Certificate Template

Below is an overview of the design and copy elements that make up the template. Please review these helpful tips to ensure that your award certificate meets our guidelines.

Typefaces:

For the body of the certificate, use Georgia (system font) or More Pro. For the signer's name and title, use Arial (system font) or Sofia Pro.

For an effective visual presentation of the awardee's name, choose a font size between 28pt and 45pt.

Always spell out the day of the month, the year and all other figures (do not use numerals). And be sure to use lowercase lettering.

On documents such as diplomas and certificates, use the University's official legal name: "State University of New York at Buffalo." In subsequent running copy, "University at Buffalo" should be used.

Please do not replace the Master Brand mark with a unit lockup or any other logo.

Standard 8.5" x 11" paper size.

Remember to replace this placeholder copy with your event title, or remove it altogether if the award is not presented at an event.

The university crest gives the certificate a formal visual quality. However, the crest can be replaced with a seal or foil stamp.

The image shows a template for an award certificate from the University at Buffalo. It includes a header with the university's logo and name, a main body with a large name and a date, and a footer with a signature line and the university crest. Red dashed lines and arrows point to various elements, accompanied by explanatory text. The text on the certificate reads: "State University of New York at Buffalo is pleased to honor Victor E. Bull, PhD '97 in recognition of twenty years of dedicated service to the university and in testimony thereof has granted this certificate at the University at Buffalo Celebration of Student Academic Excellence on this ninth day of October, two thousand and seventeen." The footer includes a signature line for "Victor E. Bull" and the text "Campus Mascot, University at Buffalo". The university crest is also present.

State University of New York at Buffalo is pleased to honor

Victor E. Bull, PhD '97

in recognition of twenty years of dedicated service to the university and in testimony thereof has granted this certificate at the University at Buffalo Celebration of Student Academic Excellence on this ninth day of October, two thousand and seventeen.

Victor E. Bull
Campus Mascot, University at Buffalo

Victor E. Bull
Campus Mascot, University at Buffalo