Among the most popular majors include computer sciences, psychology, communications, social work, medicine, business administration, and data sciences and applications. UB honored alumnus, Dr. James Marks, with a SUNY Honorary Degree. Dr. Marks is a pioneer in public health and health equity who served as the assistant surgeon general and director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention, and he later served as the executive vice president at the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. UB faculty members Deborah Chung, SUNY Distinguished Professor of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering, and Venu Govindaraju, SUNY Distinguished Professor of Computer Science and Engineering, received President's Medals at School of Engineering and Applied Sciences commencement ceremonies. SUNY Distinguished Professor of Medicine and Microbiology and Immunology will receive his President's Medal at a later date.

Regarding the enacted New York State budget, SUNY's direct operating support for state operated campuses increased by $114 million. SUNY received $550 million in critical maintenance funds and $160 million for building enhancements and new construction. Allocations to individual campuses of the funding is forthcoming. The budget also designates UB as the home of Empire AI and the North campus as the site of a new building for a state-of-the-art computer center. In April, UB hosted U.S. Senate Majority Leader Charles Schumer and National Science Foundation director, Dr. Sethuraman Panchanathan, for a visit to UB to celebrate the grand opening of UB's National AI Institute for Exceptional Education. President Tripathi thanked the Council members for their support of UB's institutional mission and goals.

President Tripathi then asked VP Hubbard to provide an update on UB's campus master plan.

University Briefings: Presentation by Laura Hubbard

Vice President Hubbard discussed the goals of UB's comprehensive master plan, how UB is reimagining the north campus, plans for development along Lee Road, plans to incorporate an NFTA extension line on campus, and potential sites for an Empire AI building. The master plan is about thinking long-range about the physical environment and how it serves UB's academic goals. Five areas of focus include creating a downtown campus by moving the medical school—which has taken place, revitalizing the south campus as a professional studies campus, reimagining the north campus as an undergraduate and research center, improving the campus life experience on all three campuses, and reducing deferred maintenance and addressing priority infrastructure goals.

On the north campus, the goals include strengthening the academic spine, developing Lee Road, better connecting the Ellicott Complex to the academic spine, and celebrating Lake Lasalle. UB has been strengthening the academic spine through Heart of the Campus projects such as One World Café, consolidating and modernizing libraries, renovating classrooms, and consolidating schools and the College of Arts & Sciences. UB's plans for celebrating Lake LaSalle include locating recreation activities and access to the lake, extend and enhance pedestrian and cycle access, placing student housing along the lake and improving lake amenities. UB's plans for Lee Road development include building a wellness and recreation center facility, build student housing, incorporate a light rail system, and add community facing assets. UB is also working with the NFTA on its plans to extend its rail service to UB's north campus. UB is looking at two locations for an Empire AI building, one located new UB's chilled water plant and the other located near an electrical substation on the north campus. Mr. Roche asked if the UB Foundation will be involved in development along Lee Road. Ms. Hubbard said it will depend on each project. Mr. Dandes asked if UB will be collaborating with the Town of Amherst on its development plans along Millersport Highway. Ms. Hubbard stated UB has regular meetings with the town about planning. Mr. Friedman asked about the development of the health center. Ms. Hubbard stated that, currently, recreation facilities are shared with Athletics. A health center for the north campus is located off campus currently. Mr. Hamluk also added that Clark Hall is being transformed into a health center for the south campus. Ms. McDuffie inquired about the passenger usage of UB's Stampede bus service. Ms. Hubbard stated it is highly utilized by students.

Report of the Student Representative

Ms. Turton began her report by discussing the excitement of students who finished their spring semester and acknowledged the student members who served on the Council on Advocacy and Leadership (COAL) board for 2023-24 as well as introduce the members of the 2024-25 COAL board. Ms. Turton also reviewed the activities of various student groups including the Dental Student Association, Graduate Management Association, Graduate Student Association, Student Bar Association, School of Pharmacy Student Association, and Residence Hall Association. Ms. Turton has also been working on student outreach to appoint a new COAL Recording Secretary, completing an accessibility and transportation petition for COAL to review, expand how students receive updates from the UB Council Student Representative, work on resolutions with COAL members addressing how to improve the student experience, and preparing COAL's summer onboarding meetings.
